

Close Quarter Combat Courses

Originally founded by Masters Peter Ellis and Dirk Jähnke with the aim to support the ICPTA with professional Close Combat Training for both the Close Protection, as the Security Officer. Over the years, ICPTA Close Quarter Combatives became an inherent part of the International Martial Arts Schools and successfully taught to individuals, military and or police.

The ICPTA CQC courses are meant to enable participants with skills and knowledge in order to make less use of firearms. Students are taught the vital areas of human anatomy and pressure-sensitive areas that are used in unarmed confrontation. Practical and realistic exercises will complete the courses.

- Understanding how well and how not to act in emergency situations.
- Learn the manipulation of pressure sensitive areas that are used to control or acquire and keep the attackers.
- Having the unique experience through participation in practical exercises and training.

Examples of courses:

- Close Quarter ICPTA Combatives
- Close Quarter Combatives Instructor
- Tactical Combat Knife
- Palm Stick, Dulo-Dulo
